ANNOUNCEMENTS

The award-winning BRET Office of Career Development ASPIRE module – Management and Business Principles for Scientists – is now taking applications for the spring semester. It is ideal for trainees interested in:

1. independent research careers in industry or academia (running a research lab in academia is often compared to owning a small business).
2. scientific or management careers in academic core facilities or contract research organizations.
3. any career outside the lab which requires business acumen!

Apply now! Deadline is December 4.

The next PhD Career Connections will focus on Project Management and Research Administration, featuring two speakers from VICTR. Join us Thursday, November 30.

Don’t miss the December’s PhD Career Connections featuring alumnus Ines Macias-Perez, who will speak about Pre-clinical and Clinical Development in the Pharmaceutical Industry. Dr. Macias-Perez is the Senior Scientist of Product Development at Cumberland Pharmaceuticals.

R-Ladies student organization is hosting “Introduction to purr” today, November 13, at 6pm, in the VUMC Biostats Conference room. Learn more here.

VU Alumna Lindsey Morris will be speaking at the Greater Nashville Healthcare Analytics Meetup on November 14. Hear her talk, “Crafting Your Professional Development Toolset for a Career in Healthcare Data Science.”

The VUMC Clinical Neuroscience Scholars program will be accepting applications from predoctoral students whose primary mentor is in VUMC who are interested in partnering with mentors in Neurology, Psychiatry and Neurosurgery to gain clinical experience related to their thesis research.

The Yale Ciencia Academy is a FREE year-long (January - December) program to provide graduate students with opportunities for mentoring, peer support and networking; to develop skills important for career advancement; and to contribute to their communities through science outreach.

The BC Children’s Hospital Research Institute is now accepting applications for the 2018 Scholars of Excellence Program to support recent PhD or MD graduates in conducting clinical and translational research with the intent to develop future leaders in child health research.

Join members of the TMC Innovation Institute to learn more about the Biodesign Fellowship program, get details on the recruitment process, and ask questions.

Apply for the AAAS Mass Media Science and Engineering Fellowship which is open from October 16-January 15.
