

ComSciCon18

June 14-16, Boston MA

ComSciCon's goal is to empower future leaders in science communication to share the results from research in their field to broad and diverse audiences.

A science communication workshop for graduate students, by graduate students.

All graduate students from US and Canadian universities in STEM fields are invited to apply.

A total of 50 graduate students are selected from all applicants to attend – selection is competitive!

There is no registration fee, and travel support and accommodations are provided to non-local attendees.

Go to ComSciCon.com to apply!
Questions? Contact comscicon18@comscicon.org