Research Study Opportunity

Researchers in the Vanderbilt Center for Cognitive Medicine are conducting a small, brief research study about adult attention, memory, and concentration status.

We are looking for:
Adults (18+) Male and Female, generally healthy, willing to take part in one brief memory screening.

Participation would include:
- Two brief surveys about you, your health, and your memory
- A short battery of paper and computerized cognitive tests

Study involvement will take approximately 30-45 minutes. Study visits will be scheduled at our offices at the Vanderbilt Psychiatric Hospital, M-F 10am-3pm.

Participants will be compensated $25 for their time and cooperation.

If you are interested, please get in touch with the Study Coordinator (Ms.) Asante Kamkwalala

She can be reached at (615) 322-2082, or via email at asante.r.kamkwalala@vanderbilt.edu, and is happy to answer any questions about the study.
